I think allowing cell phones onboard is a mistake. It's the only time I get peace and quiet. The only time it has come in handy is during emergencies as on Sept. 11th. The use of cell phones is barely tolerable in restaurants and other public places; imagine sitting next to someone during a long flight who stays on the phone during the entire flight. It could lead to more passenger conflict.